Retention of Delivered Files: Once the prints or JPEG files are delivered to the Client, it is the Client’s sole responsibility to protect and retain their images for the future. It is highly recommended that DVDs or USB drives be duplicated and stored in multiple locations that are cool and dry. (Technology can be fickle; one of the best ways to ensure the Client’s images will last for generations is for the Client to print them.) If Client requires old files to be duplicated by the photographer, and they are still within the photographer’s possession, a restocking fee may be applied. Client is aware that color dyes in photography may fade or discolor over time due to the inherent qualities of dyes, and Client releases Photographer from any liability for any claims whatsoever based upon fading or discoloration due to such inherent qualities.

No re-editing will be done after the final edited copies are presented to the Client. The Client agrees that the photographer can only capture in the session what happens; weather, location, schedule complications, time restraints and subject’s ability to cooperate, are all factors in the quality of the photographs. The photographer will not edit for physical size, hair, nor any other physical appearance issue other than blemishes. The photographer will remove all logos not pertaining to the business of the client.
